

Innovation vs. New-to-You

Healthcare organizations vary in the pace and scale of their adoption and expansion of change. Sometimes what feels like jolting, lightning speed within an organization is working toward capabilities that are already broadly adopted throughout the industry. The Innovations vs New-to-You framework offers a means to understand how initiatives on a strategic portfolio position an organization for the future.